Interned Men Stabbed.
The Cork city council has decided to forward to the Irish government in Dublin a statement from the commandant at Spike Island regarding the alleged severity of the treatment of Sinn Féin men interned there.

According to the statement, interned men who were severely disciplined for singing in their huts at night continued their singing Wednesday night as a protest against the order to them to desist.

The statement said that several armed soldiers entered huts at 11 o'clock at night and beat the interned men with rifle butts and bayonets. The soldiers stripped the huts of all beds, tables, and other conveniences. The next morning the interned men refused to parade or work, whereupon the military authorities locked the doors of the huts. The interned men countered by taking down the doors and burning them and otherwise wrecking the huts.

ERIN READY FOR NEW WAR

BY HAROLD SPENDER.
[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.]
[Copyright, 1921.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 25.—We have motored 160 miles across Ireland, through the counties of Cork, Kilkenny, Queens, Kildare, and Wicklow, starting from Cork in the morning and arriving in Dublin in the late afternoon, despite numerous trenches and broken bridges. Several times we had to leave the roads and motor across fields and through rushing streams.

There are little efforts on either side to mend these breakages in the highways of Ireland. There seems to be a vague idea that it would be a breach of the truce.

Silence About Trenches.
There is an amazing silence about the trenches; you can obtain any information from any one, even just near the spot of a broken bridge.

"I don't know anything about the roads in these parts," is the reply of the Irish peasants who pass us by.

On the other hand, during the waits by the road caused by our numerous punctures I always have found the women ready to give us tea or stout without charge. It is the general terror of helping a Saxon, the old Irish spirit of hospitality prevails.

Scenes Along Road.
Passing through the villages along the Dublin road and saw strange sights. Most of the little towns have run up the Sinn Féin flag. At Durrus there was a crowd in front of the courthouse marshalled by men with Sinn Féin armlets. A Sinn Féin court was proceeding.

A little later on we met some fifty cyclists in plain clothes but moving along in "close formation." It was not till we came abreast of them that we realized their formation was military and that they were a Sinn Féin cyclist company out for practice.

There is no party in the south of Ireland that counts at all except the Republican party. The whole of the south of Ireland is out for independence from British rule, some by peaceful means, some by violence.

Men of Peace.
I entirely accept the Archbishop of Cashel's reminder that we are a man of peace. Of course, he is. So are we all. All the people by the wayside all persistently desire peace. None of them can possibly desire a recurrence of the events of last year and this spring.

They all desire peace. Yes, but always on their own terms. He who really desires peace must have the spirit of peace in his mind. But I find nothing of that over here. The two sides stand absolutely apart. On one side are the soldiers and police, now with absolutely nothing to do and already tired of the idleness of the truce. On the other side are the Irish people.

Every man of clear judgment here on both sides expects the incidents of warfare will be far more horrible and the devastation far more extensive if the struggle is renewed.

The hatred of England prevailing here at present does not seem to go as deep as it seems. I have myself experienced sufficient kindness to realize that. This people is naturally affectionate, hospitable, kindly, and loyal. Events have poisoned all these wells of action and feeling, but one great act of generosity on the part of Great Britain, one commanding proof of nobility of soul, would lead Ireland back to England as it won South Africa.

MISS HANAN DIES BLAMING WOMAN, CLEARING MAN

Brother Gives Version of Strange Tragedy.

New York, Sept. 25.—[Special.]—Miss Mildred E. Hanan died in the Long Island College hospital in Brooklyn at 4 o'clock this morning from bullet wounds inflicted by Mrs. Grace Lawes, her former chum.

As life flickered from the weakened body of the youthful heiress there also faded all hopes of dissipating through court procedure the mystery that led to the shooting and the subsequent suicide of Mrs. Lawes.

"The motive which inspired Mrs. Lawes to shoot Miss Hanan was undoubtedly jealousy," said Assistant District Attorney Reuben Wilson of Brooklyn tonight.

"Case Is Closed."
"However, we will not pursue the investigation any further. Both principals are dead. There are no accomplices, so the case is absolutely closed."

Miss Hanan had been unconscious for two hours. Up to midnight physicians were hopeful for her recovery. She had been shot from two operations for blood transfusion, and appeared to be gradually gaining strength.

With the early morning hours, however, signs of a relapse became apparent. Mrs. Grace Hanan, the girl's mother and widow of the late Alfred P. Hanan, millionaire shoe manufacturer, was asleep in an adjoining room. She was awakened and immediately telephoned her son, Alfred T. Hanan, Jr., who hurried from his home in Sea Gate, and John Borland of Manhattan. Borland was Miss Hanan's escort when the tragedy took place on the sidewalk before the home of a mutual friend in Brooklyn, Miss Dorothy Gottschalk, early Friday morning.

Girl Silent to Last.
Miss Hanan's last statement was to Captain of Detectives Sullivan late yesterday. Complying with the law, Capt. Sullivan briefly questioned the dying girl.

"Who shot you?" he asked.
"Grace," she replied.
"Do you know why?"

Miss Hanan closed her eyes, and shook her head.

"Did Borland have anything to do with it?"
"Not in the least," was the answer. She died a few moments later.

Brother Explains Affair.
Alfred Hanan, Mildred's only brother, tonight gave the first authentic explanation of the tragedy.

"There has been a lot published about this sad affair which is not true," said Mr. Hanan. "Mrs. Lawes several months ago impressed me as irresponsible. I didn't like the way she acted, and I asked my sister to try to break the connection with her, at least as far as her intimate nature was concerned. She had the appearance and manner which I thought indicated a user of drugs."

Mildred felt sorry for her, and her goodness of heart cost her her life. The suggestion of rivalry between Mildred and Mrs. Lawes for any man's attention is absurd.

Woman Was Crazy.
"To suggest a motive for such a crime is almost impossible. The only explanation is that her act was that of an insane woman, and insane persons need no motive. When Mrs. Lawes found she was to lose the monetary help and the home by Mildred's breaking with her, she decided to commit the crime."

"She said to Mildred at the time of the disagreement: 'I will see that the Hanan name gets in the papers in big type,' and she certainly carried out her threat."

RUSSIA LIGHTS REVOLT FUSE IN BALKANS, CLAIM

Bulgar Premier Sees Soviet Plots.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Alexander Stambolisky, the Bulgarian premier, speaking to newspaper correspondents regarding the policies of the Russian revolution in the Balkans, said it was the evident intention of the Moscow government to accomplish a revolution in the Balkan states with the assistance of the extreme left wing of the Communist parties in those states.

"The bolsheviks' immediate goal is a revolution in Yugoslavia," said the Bulgarian premier, "with Austria, Roumania, and Bulgaria in turn thereafter receiving their attention. In order to facilitate the work bolshevik forces now are gathering on the northern Roumanian frontier along the Danube."

"The soviets of Russia, in view of the difficulties of action to the northward and eastward, to which is added the famine situation, see a way out of their difficult position in an attempt to break through the bourgeois front towards Roumania, and also the occupation of Constantinople through Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, and Enver Pasha moving from Ankara."

Black Sea Is Mined.
Meanwhile the Black sea has been mined with both floating and submarine mines. The political horizon of the Balkan states is dark. It behooves us to be on the lookout, and negotiations now going on for a Balkan states conference.

"The entry of Poland and Austria into the little entente, a closer agreement between Yugoslavia and ourselves, and Bulgaria's eventual entrance into the Jugo-Slav state might prove an effective means of combating the bolshevik's plans."

Denies Roumanian Plans War.
WARSAW, Sept. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—A Roumanian delegate is on the way to Warsaw to meet a representative of the Moscow government to arrange further negotiations over the Russian-Roumanian boundary dispute, says an official statement issued by the Roumanian legation here today. ITALIANS MAY USE FORCE Against Hungary.

VIENNA, Sept. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The conviction was expressed in government circles today that only the early application of force could save the Burgenland situation from more grave developments. Hungary's confession to the allies in Paris that she is unable to clear the territory of the insurgents, together with Austria's military impotency, has aroused the belief here that the "little entente," with the aid of Italy, soon will be brought into play to settle the situation.

It is admitted on all sides that a serious situation would follow such action, as the Hungarians constantly are being reinforced. It is generally agreed that they will fight hard.

The supporters of former Emperor Charles apparently have the upper hand in the situation. The belief prevails here that the Burgenland affair has turned from the originally unorganized insurrection into a springboard for an attempt for the Hapsburg dynasty to return to power.

Plundering Continues.
Reports from the affected region say plundering continues in the guise of requisitions. Money, live stock, and foodstuffs have been taken in such quantities that many villages have been stripped bare.

It now appears that fighting yesterday at Bruck, in which the Austrians lost three men killed, resulted from men in Hungarian railway uniforms firing on an Austrian guard. The Austrians captured seventy of the attacking party.

A dispatch received here from Prague reports that the 28th regiment is on its way to the Slovakian front. Six batteries of Czech artillery and the entire 10th Czech division are said to be at Presburg.

Hungary Sees Peace Hope.
BUDAPEST, Sept. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—The note of the council of ambassadors to Hungary, demanding evacuation of Burgenland, which was awarded to Austria by the treaty of Trianon, is regarded here as lenient because it grants a ten-day respite pending which it is hoped a compromise can be reached with Austria.

It is felt that the "little entente" is working for a peaceful solution of the difficulties. The reported suggestion of Hungary that Austria sacrifice Odensburg in exchange for peaceful possession of the rest of West Hungary is cited as evidence that all parties concerned are endeavoring to settle the matter by compromise.

Declares rumors of war preparations by the Roumanians against the soviets are unfounded.

30 SHIPWRECKED SAILORS 3 DAYS IN SMALL BOATS

Storm Victims Picked Up in Mid-Ocean.

New York, Sept. 25.—Rescued after spending three and a half days in two small boats on the open sea when their ship, the Italian freighter Alacrita, foundered in a terrific hurricane, Capt. Giuseppe Schiaffino and his crew of twenty-nine men arrived today, none the worse for their experience, on the Spanish cargo boat Cabo Creux.

On Sept. 16 the Alacrita encountered the hurricane. In the mountainous waves her rudder was disabled and she became unmanageable. Then her cargo of grain shifted, she listed heavily, and the waves tore off the hatches, water pouring into the hold. After eight hours the storm abated, but the ship was sinking rapidly. At dawn on Sept. 17 the crew put off in two small boats, just before the ship took her final plunge.

For more than three days the crew, drenched and hungry, took turns at the oars. At noon of the fourth day the Cabo Creux hove into sight and picked them up.

The Alacrita, of 1,690 tons registry, was bound from New Orleans and Norfolk for Barcelona.

EYES OF IDLE WILL REST ON CAPITAL TODAY

Harding to Open Jobless Conference.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—The national unemployment conference summoned by President Harding to consider ways and means of providing a livelihood for the many thousands of involuntary idle in the United States will assemble here tomorrow. Comprising half a hundred representatives from most of the "key" trades, members of the conference were selected, it was said, for their knowledge of conditions in various sections of the country and in the various industries. The first duty of the conference will be to determine accurately the employment needs of the nation at present and to recommend to the administration emergency measures for mitigating the situation as found to exist, before the rigors of winter set in, officials here said.

To Form Permanent Policy.
With the immediate problem of work distribution solved, according to administration officials, the conference will take up the formulation of a permanent policy for combating unemployment throughout the country, whenever and wherever a serious situation may arise and, in addition, to suggest methods for hastening the return to normal of commerce and business generally.

The conference is to be formally opened tomorrow by President Harding, with an address of welcome to the men and women who responded to his invitation to lend their counsel to the government.

Secretary Hoover, named by the president as chairman of the conference, is to lay before the conferees suggestions for efficient organization to enable an expeditious consideration of the question at hand and the most practical means for reaching the conclusions sought.

Committees to Take Up Problems.
To this end it is expected the conference will at once form itself into committees to inquire into the various angles of the unemployment problem, the recommendations of the committees to be acted upon by the whole body in arriving at a general policy. Provision has been made for as many as ten committees, indicating that these bodies would consist of five or six conferees each.

A mass of data has been prepared for the use of the conference by an advisory committee of economic experts appointed by Secretary Hoover.

JOBLESS CROWD BOOS REITMAN OFF SOAP BOX

"Conditions Not Bad," He Says—That's All.

Dr. Ben Reitman was "boosed" from a soapbox in Washington square yesterday afternoon by more than two hundred members of the metal workers' union, who stalked statements by him that the unemployment situation in this country was not as serious as reported by radical speakers.

The meeting was being held by the metal workers in support of a series of resolutions adopted by the union asking the inauguration of a pension for unemployed, with a minimum of $20 a week.

Dr. Reitman was introduced by Joseph P. Neary, secretary of the union. He had been preceded by the usual Sunday afternoon "pink erators" who throng the little park.

Reitman Starts, and Finishes.
"I don't think the situation is as bad as it is made out to be," Dr. Reitman began. "We have 100,000,000 people in the country. I doubt if more than 10,000 slept out of doors last night."

"A lot of speakers would have us believe that the country has gone to the dogs. I don't think so."

"Sit down!" yelled a leather lunged "pink."

"Boo-o-o-o-o-o!" accompanied the audience.

After several ineffectual attempts to talk Dr. Reitman quit.

Fule Blame on Open Shop.
Then began one G. F. Kelly, who hails from New York City:

"It's the piece work and the open shop plan that's responsible for the illness of thousands of men who are starving to death," Kelly said.

The rest of his talk was devoted to the plan of federal pensions for all workers when out of employment, which was conceived by Lodge No. 40 of the Amalgamated Association of Metal Workers.

Among other things, the plan would inaugurate a governmental survey of market shortages and idle production equipment and a census of available skilled workers to operate that idle machinery to overcome the shortage.

New Use for Income Tax.
The plan also advocates conscription of all industries by the government; the placing of all employment in the hands of the United States Employment service; registration of all workers; the opening of all arable land to volunteer homesteaders under a governmental "grubstaking" plan, and installation of a pension system to all unemployed of 75 per cent of their normal weekly wage in their various trades, the money to be derived by a new tax on all incomes above $5,000.

When Crown Prince Rupprecht appeared on the parade ground in a field marshal's uniform there was a scene of wild enthusiasm.

YANKEE RELIEF BOWS TO WILE OF NO RUSS FACTION

RIGA, Sept. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Commenting favorably on the efficiency and speed of the American relief administration activities in Russia, the Moscow Pravda's Petrograd correspondent says, "The bearing of Mr. Hoover's representatives is sublimely proud, like the archduke visiting charcoal burners, but the manners of the merchant educated in the Y. M. C. A. Sunday school."

"Nevertheless," the correspondent says, "the attitude of the American relief administration is strictly non-political. It is unresponsive to the innuendoes of the White Guards and is doing a great and necessary task."

"Without joy or tranquility we accept the gifts of our American benefactors. We know aims have to be paid, the bearer of anything, but let the children be fed at the price of any obligations."

OPEN HEARING TOMORROW ON TEN CENT FARE

Gas and Phone Cos.' Rate
Defense to Follow.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

This is the week when three Chicago utilities—the elevated roads, the gas and the telephone companies—are scheduled to appear before the Illinois commerce commission to "show cause why their rates should not be reduced," to quote a statement of Chairman Frank L. Smith.

The elevated lines will be first. They will appear tomorrow. The gas company is on the program for Wednesday and the telephone company for Thursday. In addition, the surface lines are on the docket for Oct. 1, when it is assumed the taking of evidence in this case will be started.

The right of the commission to make the companies "show cause why their rates should not be reduced" may be questioned right from the start. The surface lines have already told the commission that it has no legal authority to place the burden of proof upon them, but at the same time said they were willing to prove that it is unfair and unjust to lower their fare.

"I" Stand Uncertain.

No indication has been given regarding the attitude which will be assumed by the elevated roads. This company, like the surface lines, operated on a fiscal basis before the war, but with the advance in prices asked and received a larger income. Its changes in fare may be summarized as follows:

10 cents, no tickets.....Nov. 22, 1918
10 cents, no tickets.....Dec. 1, 1918
10 cents, 2 tickets 15 cents.....Feb. 1, 1920
10 cents, 4 tickets 35 cents.....Aug. 4, 1920

The 10 cent cash fare with four rides on tickets for 35 cents was established in a final order of the commission on Jan. 4 last, but it had been in operation, under a temporary order, since Aug. 4 of last year. It is the permanent order which the commission has asked the elevated roads to justify under present conditions.

The fare schedule, summarized above, does not give an accurate view of the average fare received by the companies. This average has been officially determined.

Average Fare Varies.

While the fare was a flat 5 cents the average fare received by the company was a trifle larger, because a second fare was collected from Evanston and Winnetka patrons of the elevated road. That average fare varied from 45 cents to 5.164 cents.

During the nine months that the first fare was authorized, the average fare collected thereunder was 45 cents. The six months of the second fare resulted in an average fare of 5.110 cents; but the following six months of an 8 cent cash fare with two rides for 15 cents brought the average fare down to 3.78 cents.

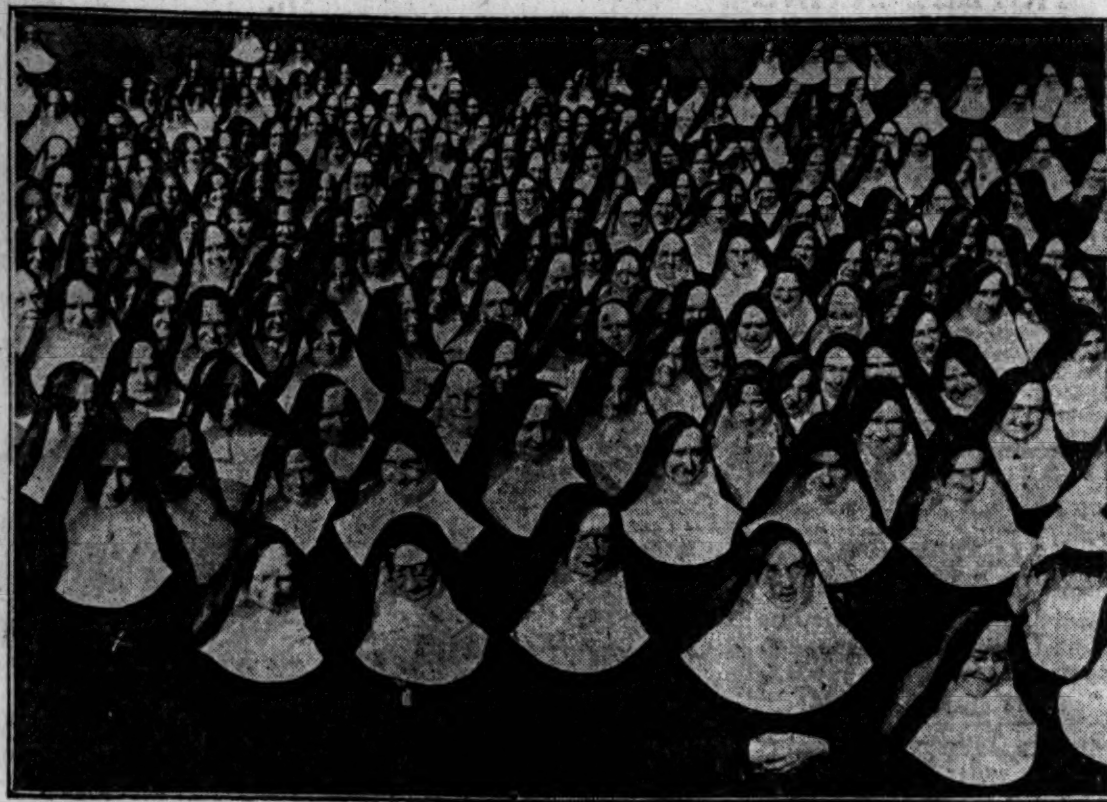

Exactly what the present fare of 10 cents cash or four rides for 35 cents has settled the company this year is not available; but during three months of last year this fare schedule resulted in an average fare of 5.257 cents.

On the face of the fare schedules, the cost of riding on the elevated has jumped from 5 cents cash to 10 cents cash, or 100 per cent. That gives an unfair impression of the increased cost to the great majority of riders. It is much more fair to compare the average fare collected. That shows an increase from 5.155 cents in 1917 to 4.37 cents at present. That is a boost of 41.32 cents, or a trifle more than 70 per cent.

Have Other Income.

The visitor to Chicago, however, who gives the city its reputation outside of corporate limits, paid 5 cents before the war and pays 10 cents now. The

IN THE NAME OF MERCY

For the first time since their order came to Chicago in 1846, seventy-five years ago, the Sinters of Mercy, the city's pioneer welfare workers, are asking for financial aid. In commemoration of the diamond jubilee of their arrival they will launch a campaign next Saturday, Oct. 1, to raise $1,000,000 to broaden the scope of their work.

Headquarters for the campaign have been opened in room 314 Morrison hotel, where a committee, under the direction of D. F. Kelly, is completing plans to canvass the city. These plans will be submitted to the board of directors of the order in Chicago at a dinner in the Morrison hotel Wednesday night.

The $1,000,000 will be used to build a central south side high school to replace the five high schools now conducted by the sisters, to erect a new building to house St. Xavier's College for Women, and a house of studies for the sisters. An addition to Mercy hospital, conducted by the sisters, which will supply a pressing need for more moderate priced beds, additional operating rooms, and improved laboratory and research facilities, also will be built.

79 per cent is only indicative of the increase in the companies' gross income from fares. They probably have more than $1,000,000 a year income from sources other than passenger fares, but the sum—whatever it is—was considered by the preceding utilities commission in determining what the fare schedule should be and undoubtedly will be taken into account by the present commerce commission.

In summoning in the utilities, Chairman Smith said that "the commission is very frankly of the opinion that at last the time has come for the companies named to prove that their rates should not be reduced."

However, it is not anticipated that little more will be done this week than set the machinery in shape for work and that the taking of evidence will not begin until some time later.

SENATOR LODGE CAUSES STIR BY VIEW ON YANKS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—[Special.]—Considerable surprise has been caused in Washington by the statement of Senator Lodge in the senate yesterday that he thought he was "at liberty to say" that the American troops on the Rhine would begin to return at once, although the exact time for complete withdrawal of the troops and the flag had not been determined.

There had been an intimation from quarters close to President Harding that our troops might be taken away from Germany when the pending substitute peace treaty was ratified.

Everything indicates that whatever the administration may do, the general opinion in administration circles is that the withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine would be a severe blow to the prestige of the allied governments and would encourage Germany to resist the fulfillment of her peace treaty obligations.

3,300 PIGEONS RACE, WASHINGTON TO N. Y.; FAIL TO BEAT RECORD

New York, Sept. 25.—[Special.]—More than 5,000 homing pigeons were released in Washington today, 3,300 of them competing in a race of the United Homing Pigeon course of New York.

The first pigeon to arrive flopped into the loft of S. U. Prichard 4 hours 57 minutes and 54 seconds after it left Washington, covering a distance of 244.02 miles at the rate of 1,205.35 yards a minute.

The second bird belonged to Robert Crozier of Paterson, and flew 263.15 miles in 4 hours 53 minutes and 21 seconds, at the rate of 1,199.07 yards a minute. An entry of James Crozier of Creston, N. J., was third, arriving after 5 hours 2 minutes and 38 seconds, an average of 1,184.65 yards a minute. The record average speed for the measured 200 mile course from Washington is 2,200 yards per minute, much better than any of the flyers achieved today.

Indiana Town Uncovers Alleged Auto Thief Gang

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 25.—[Special.]—Four arrests have been made and seven automobiles recovered as a result of Chief of Police Faucett of this city unearthing an alleged gang of automobile thieves. The police believe they have been extending their operations from Chicago through this section of Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky to states farther south.

Dewey Wells and William Humbert, alias William Bent, are in jail, and David Cantwell, a tenant on a farm, and Harry Saunders of Anderson are out on bond.

All of the defendants are charged with having received stolen goods. The cars recovered were stolen from Chicago and Indianapolis.

COURT BATTLES IN RENTAL WAR ON FULL BLAST

Barasa Expects 100 Each Day This Week.

The rent court is in for an enormous rush this week. Judge Barasa expects that he will be called upon to decide a minimum of 100 battles a day between tenant and landlord. Indeed, if the number does not run higher he will assume that the friction between the renters and the owners is decreasing. The principal reason for the anticipated increase in disputes is the approach of the autumn moving day. That arrives next Saturday. Owners want to get their new tenants in by Oct. 1, because many of them have boosted their rents, judging by the evidence presented in the last two weeks in the rent court.

Evidence there is lacking that rents have begun to decline or that the landlords have abandoned the policy of increasing rentals.

"Adjustments" Upward Trend. In addition, real estate agents admit that some "adjusting" is going on, but they deny that there is any general increase in rents.

It is not intimated that every flat owner is "adjusting" rentals, but information gathered confirms the admission of agents that there is "adjusting" and that "adjusting" is exclusively upwards. It would be real news to find an owner of three or more flats who has reduced his rents voluntarily.

The rent increases on medium priced flats have been conservative in most instances, according to the court evidence heard. But they have been more than the money cost of moving. Moving rates last week were still quoted at $4.50 an hour for loading and unloading, with $1.50 a mile for hauling. Increase in Vacant Flats.

The flats for rent have probably increased in number. That is the view of three real estate men consulted. Last May the renting division of the Chicago real estate board estimated

NEW ENGLAND HAS THRIFTIEST PUBLIC, U. S. FIGURES SHOW

New York, Sept. 25.—The people of Massachusetts are the thriftiest in the United States.

Statistics gathered by John J. Pulley, president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank here, in connection with the work of the national conference of mutual savings banks to encourage thrift, showed that in a population of 3,852,356 the Bay state has 2,593,287 savings bank deposits, or 67 per cent.

The figures showed that the savings habit throughout New England was more pronounced than elsewhere in the land. Indiana, with a population of 2,920,644, had only 32,419 depositors, or 1.1 per cent.

Chicago's Largest Oriental Rug Collection

THERE are so many different, distinct types of Oriental Rugs, each woven in a particular locality of the Great Orient, that the average buyer quickly becomes confused and must place himself entirely at the judgment of the dealer.

At Pushman's, the buyer will find the largest and most complete collection of the finer Oriental Rugs in the Midwest. Upon each linen-backed price tag he will find, in ink:

- (1) Its Distinguishing Name
- (2) Its Measurements to the Inch
- (3) Its Exact Price

With this basic information, he is in a position to discuss with our experts the merits of durability and adaptability to his specific requirement.

Pushman's is the best place to buy your Oriental Rug. Here variety is great and here a one-price system of selling always prevails.

PENNSY BALKS AT MORE CONFABS WITH U. S. BOARD

Declines to Negotiate
Further.

Refusal by the Pennsylvania railroad to enter into further negotiations with its employees through the United States labor board over the shop crafts elections dispute was announced last night by officials of the company.

An oral hearing had been granted the officials by the board and set for this morning. Last night a letter from President Samuel Rea of the railway company to the board was made public.

Letter Explains Position.

In this letter it was stated that "the carrier asserts and will exercise the right to deal with its own employees without the intervention of individuals or organizations whose manifest object is the denial of the fundamental right of employer and employee to deal in the first instance directly with each other respecting wages and working conditions in which they alone are directly interested."

Charges that the board had "arrogated to itself" the power "to ignore decisions of the Supreme court of the United States determining the respective rights of employers and employees" were made in the letter.

"The board has decided that hitherto unquestioned legal rights must give way to the board's views of what is just, fair, and reasonable as between the parties and the public," the letter says.

Views Called "Startling."

"The carrier can not accept these views of the board, novel and startling though they be, and it followed to their logical conclusion, revolutionary in effect," it continues. "It does not believe that the transportation act has deprived or was intended by congress to deprive, either employers or employees of their constitutional and legal rights as established by the Supreme court and other courts of the United States."

It follows, therefore, that there is nothing for the carrier to present in the way of oral evidence on the day fixed by the board.

Whether this action is a precedent for further steps on the part of the board to settle industrial disputes without the intervention of the board is not known.

SOUTH WATER STREET PLANS ALTERED TO SPEED UP TRAFFIC

To avoid a dangerous crossing of traffic at the south entrance to the Michigan avenue bridge, the board of local improvements has adopted a revision of its plans for the $18,000,000 South Water street improvement.

The double decking of South Water street is to be extended to Michigan avenue from the junction of Wabash avenue, South Water and River streets. As previously decided, River street also will be double decked from Wabash avenue to the entrance to the link bridge.

Under the new plans, River street, from the boulevard to Wabash avenue, will be made a one-way street for west bound traffic and South Water street, east of Wabash, will be reserved for east bound vehicles, thus avoiding the traffic tangle which would occur at River street and the bridge if River street were used for two-way traffic.

SLATE BALFOUR TO HEAD BRITISH DISARM ENVOYS

BY OTIS P. SWIFT.

(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, Sept. 25.—(By The Chicago Tribune.)—Selection of delegates to the Washington conference will be one of the first duties of the cabinet when David Lloyd George, who is rapidly convalescing at Gairloch, returns to London at the end of this week.

No steps yet have been taken, but despite Arthur Balfour's statement from Geneva that he has not been approached as yet, it was stated from a high official source this afternoon that he probably will head the deputation. Andrew Bonar Law also is mentioned, but his health still is delicate and the doctor's order may prevent him from accompanying the delegation.

A few experts from the foreign office already have been selected to go to Washington.

Far East Issues Loom.

In British circles the disarmament feature is being rapidly overshadowed by the far eastern question, in which Great Britain is delicately involved. Official opinion here, while viewing with relief adjustment of the Yap problem and the possible settlement of the Shantung affair, still exhibits anxiety to learn what will be the American attitude toward China.

The British view is that Yap and Shantung are purely Japanese-American issues, but are closely bound up with the interests of British commerce, and China is insistent that England strongly participate in any action involving China.

Wants Irish Problem Removed.

England also is anxious for an Irish settlement in order that this problem will not be thrust into the Washington conference.

Reports from Melbourne today state that in view of the fact that Prime Minister Hughes faces local political unrest, Sir Joseph Cook may be advanced as Australia's representative with the British delegation.

France Backs U. S. Stand.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—(By The Associated Press.)—France is opposed to any meeting of the allied supreme council in Europe preliminary to the Washington conference, according to authoritative quarters here today. The government, it is declared, shares the American view that such a meeting, whether to discuss the Far East or any other question, might easily prejudice the decision of the Washington gathering and limit its chances for success.

POLICE RELEASE LAST SUSPECT IN TRIPLE SLAYING

Dowagiac, Mich., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Authorities late yesterday released Herbert Smith, held as a suspect in the murder of William Monroe, his wife, and daughter Neva, 17, here last week.

Smith lived next door to the Monroes. They were murdered Saturday, Sept. 17, and he left for Kalamazoo Monday, where he was arrested Wednesday. The bodies were discovered Tuesday. Smith is the last of three suspects to be released.

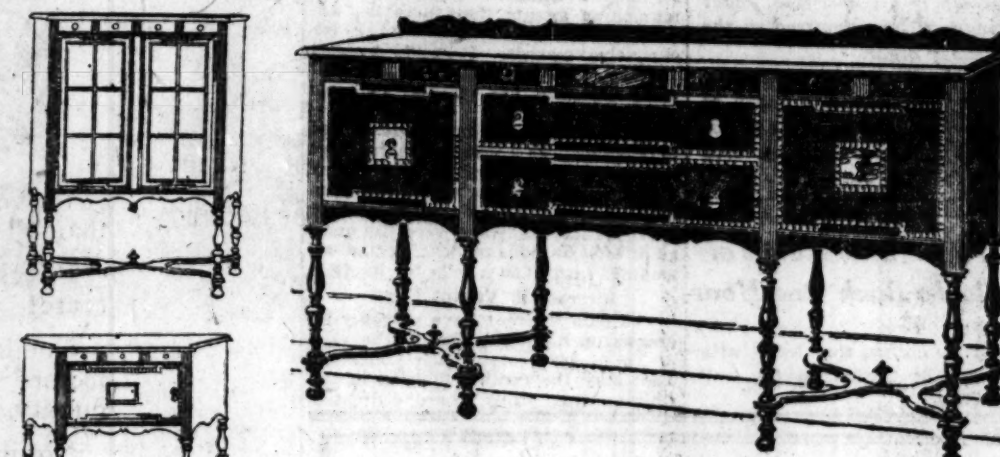

The county supervisors were to meet Monday to vote not less than $15,000 reward for the slayer. Dr. G. R. Herkimer, attending Afdith, 12, who barely escaped the fate of her father, mother, and sister, says she will be allowed the freedom of the sanitarium grounds today.

Martha, Martha, thou hast troubled

This world is full of four-flushers
That are only just pretenders.
They aren't nearly as important as To man are his suspenders.AM. Coughlin, who is a recognized authority in matters sartorial as well as poetical, has promised, it is said, to introduce a bill in council calling upon all good citizens to observe the week.Mr. Coughlin always has been a friend of the suspender. In fact, he was for a time erroneously classed with the pessimists because he wore both suspenders and belt. Of late, however, he has abandoned the belt.

To Enlist Council in Drive.

Mr. Coughlin said he would have the backing of Ald. Kenia, his coun-cilmanic teammate, for his bill."I want you to look at this propo-

"Just consider for a moment where winked his brow, wrote rapidly, and handed out the following:At Christmas we get bonuses

350 UNION MEN
DISCHARGED IN BUILDING-FEUDLast week when forty nonunion carpenters appeared at the Northwestern grain elevator for work the 350 union members of various branches of the building trades who were employed on the job chased them away.Saturday the 350 were notified when they received their pay checks that they were discharged.The forty nonunion carpenters are to return to work today, it is understood.This is the first instance to become public of the attitude which, it is rumored, contractors throughout the city intend to pursue relative to workmen in the building trades who refuse to abide by the recently announced wage and working conditions award handed down by Judge Landis.At the stadium being erected in Grant park nonunion carpenters are employed. Beside them are also several union carpenters who have decided to work rather than remain idle in a protest against the open shop.Yet union officials declare that efforts of employers to bring in nonunion labor to supplant union men who have walked out because of the terms of the Landis award have failed.

Union Men Scoff.

"The efforts of the two employers' associations to work nonunion carpenters along with union building tradesmen in Chicago has been very unsuccessful," Dan Galvin, secretary of the Carpenters' District council, said yesterday."They are bringing them in from all over the country and are housing them like cattle in flop joints on South State street," he continued. "They tried to work them on the Federal Reserve Bank building, but failed. The union carpenters are sticking for $1.25 an hour."At the last meeting of the Building Trades council Harry Jensen, president of the Carpenters District council, declared that the membership of the carpenters' locals were willing to accept $1.10 an hour, and that within twenty-four hours he could get the sanction of the affiliated locals to an acceptance of the Landis award.

A large number of the union officials of various trades will appear before Judge Landis this morning in con-of the wage controversy.Some of them are ready to submit their best and best arguments to support their contention that the wage award made by the judge is unfair to several of the trades involved. Others

GEARY BEATS THE ROPE.

The Illinois law provides that if a murderer becomes insane he shall not be hanged but shall be treated as a criminal insane person.

When Gene Geary, murderer of two men on two different occasions, had been convicted for his second killing and was to be hanged for it, his attorneys succeeded in bringing him to trial again to determine by jury verdict upon the testimony of alienists whether he had become insane after the date set for his hangings and they also succeeded in proving it to the satisfaction of the jury.

One of the worst men who ever lived in Chicago and one of the most dangerous who possibly could be allowed at large beat the rope in this fashion and will be sent to the Chester Insane asylum. He may remain there until he dies and again he may not. When he escaped conviction after his first killing the prosecutor said he would kill him and he did, shooting a man with whom he had no quarrel and did not even know.

The alienists upon whose judgment the jury acted are men of character and of high reputation in their special knowledge. It must be conceded that they felt compelled to describe Geary's mental condition as they did. When they had done so the jury must have felt compelled to accept the testimony and decide accordingly. The jury did not make the law and they were not experts.

The law which made this astonishing thing possible is not inevitable had no such intent. Insanity is now something which was not considered in the statutes relating to it and its relation to crime.

Insanity in the simple vision of the statute makers was the insanity of Ophelia or of a maniac, the condition of a gibbering idiot or of a raving wild man. There is an element in human sympathies which revolts against the punishment of idiot or maniac. It is primitive and has been expressed by the Indians who would not kill a crazy person, and by simple peasants who regard mentally deranged persons as God's wards.

The Illinois law expressed the emotional revulsion against sending an idiot or a maniac to the gallows and this particular statute protected the person who had become insane after the trial in which insanity might have been considered if it had been the mental state.

Now insanity has no close definition. Between the idiot and the maniac is a great field of defective mentality with many classifications of intelligence. The human mind has been studied in the laboratory and tested and its many defects discovered, defects of emotion and of intellect, expressed in thought and action.

These defects may exist along with the greatest shrewdness. A person may have emotional defects which are the more dangerous because of the mental ability or may have mental defects which are harmless because of the emotional condition or may have defects of both the emotions and the intellect.

These refinements of insanity were not known or understood when the law was written and they form the reason for a repeal of the statute just as quickly as the legislature can get it. By the provisions of reasonable law Gene Geary should be hanged. It does not matter whether he was insane as the experts found him and as the jury voted him. Geary is not a gibbering idiot or a raving maniac, and even if he were, why should he not be put away finally and for all time after such a record as his?

The law is thoroughly bad in its working. It does not give protection to the innocent but to the murderer judged mentally defective. Any good purposes which such a law might serve can be found in executive clemency. That is flexible and not inflexible as this law is. A governor could determine whether a case required intervention.

The law should be repealed. It is injurious to the administration of justice. It brings law into contempt. There was a belief in Chicago that Geary would beat the rope. He has done so, in a manner which the law provided.

NOT ADVISABLE.

There is pending in the house a bill, already passed, we understand, by the senate, to permit a judge in any district to issue a warrant which shall run in any other district. Thus a United States Circuit Judge in California might reach out and arrest a man in Massachusetts and order his removal to California for trial.

It is the law, of course, that one who has committed a crime shall be tried in the district in which he committed the crime. But it has also been our policy to provide safeguards against the removal of a citizen from his home without due cause. In our opinion the proposed bill is a serious and unjustifiable departure from that policy and should be defeated.

The bill is offered on the theory that it is desirable to unify the federal court administration and remove artificial barriers between districts. But this consideration weighs lightly as against substantial objections to the change, which would place any citizen more or less at the mercy of some far distant judge or prosecutor and deprive him of such protection from improper arrest or defensive action as he enjoys in his own community.

Under existing law the judge in the district of indictment is required to send a copy of the indictment to the proper official in the district in which the defendant resides or may be found. The official therefore acts as a committing magistrate and determines if there is probable cause and if the indictment is good. If the offense is bailable he fixes the bail. The defendant is entitled to introduce evidence that he did not commit the crime charged. He may attack the indictment as bad in substance. He may be heard on the question of bail.

These are safeguards which ought not to be withdrawn in such a country as ours. It is proper that one who commits a crime should be tried where he committed it. But it is not proper that any citizen may be charged with crime in some distant part of the country and be without defense from improper or precipitate action by officials unknown to him or the community in which he lives. This, it seems to us, is extending the arm of the law unduly and unnecessarily. Some rather loose talk has been directed against the bill, which has been labeled a "legalized kidnapping" measure. But on the other hand sound reasons of public policy are, in our opinion, clearly against its enactment. No advantage which seems likely to be derived from it would compensate for the evils its abuse would create.

THE FIRST DUTY OF THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Talk of a special session of the Illinois legislature which was promised by Gov. Small for this fall or winter to seek passage of his tax commission bill, the Lundin-Thompson transportation bill and other measures dear to the heart of the Lundin-Thompson-Small organization is now reviving.

Since the time of the governor's announcement of his intention to call this special session he has been indicted and now faces trial on criminal charges. There is reason to believe that his influence in the legislature is less than it was when that body on June 17 overrode his urgent demands for passage of the tax commission act and defeated it by the decisive vote of 99 to 46. Yet it is quite possible that he will call the session and again seek the passage of his measures which are designed to give the executive the greatest arbitrary powers ever held by a state governor in this country.

If he does, there is one first duty before the legislature. That is to carry through a rigid and exhaustive investigation of the charges made on the floor of the house by accredited representatives that they were approached with bribes by a representative of the state administration to support the tax commission bill and the Wheeler bill designed to raid the state civil service laws.

Representative John A. MacNeil of Olney announced on the floor of the house that Julius Johnson, secretary of the state utilities commission and a politician known to be close to the governor, had offered him and two other members of the house patronage and other advantages if they would vote for the tax commission bill and the civil service bill. Representative Snell of Carlinville told how Johnson had offered him the job of assistant utilities commissioner if he would deliver his own vote and that of two associates for the tax and civil service bills.

If we are to have a special session of the legislature there is something tangible for it to do. Unless it investigates these serious charges, fixes responsibility and clears itself of any possible imputation of having been influenced by bribes it cannot vote on the issues for which bribes are alleged to have been offered without putting itself under a cloud. After it has cleared up this matter and punished any who may be found guilty of bribery there will be plenty of time for it to reconsider the bills involved on their merits.

Not since George III. corrupted parliament have we in history an example of such corruption of a legislature by an executive branch of the government as alleged by the representatives named in this case. For the good name of the state and the legislature the stain must be erased.

BEYOND CITY WALLS.

A photograph recently taken shows Lloyd George casting for trout from the bank of a stream near Gairloch, Scotland, where he has been having as much of a vacation as a man might get between arrivals and departures of Irish, couriers and London borough delegations, with the added incidents of an abstergent tooth and neuralgia.

The winds are stiller than this when the halcyon broods, but it is peace for the stormy petrel. Mr. Lloyd George, with the collar of his rough coat turned up to his ears and with his eyes on the cast, is temporarily knee deep in the heather of the world as it ought to be, instead of being up to his neck in the troubles of the world as it is. Tivoli lies in the Sabine hills beyond the city gates. Quintus Horatius Flaccus may be in the hills as much as he wishes, with his Paleranian in a goat skin or amphiara, but Maecenas must steal from the calendar if he would shut out fact and invite illusion.

The city sweats in contentions, but the year has turned to autumn; wild asters, after heavy rains, are thick and fresh with the goldenrod and snapdragons; sumac is turning crimson, shagbark hickory leaves are falling and falling acorns thump on the roof; the red berry is on the wild rose, the red hawk on the thorn; the cat bird is in the elders, the hermit thrush rustles the seeded weeds and the chickadee is back in the viburnum.

Lloyd George has been beyond the city gates. What a life beyond them and wot a life within.

Editorial of the Day

RAND McNALLY VS. HENRY FORD.

[American Market Report.]

After reading an interview with Henry Ford on the unparalleled service rendered by his Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, the editor of "Our Family Bulletin," a publication in the interest of the employees of Union Pacific, checked up the statements with those found on page 394 of Rand McNally railroad guide for August, 1921. There the editor extracted travel information which led him to make the following observations:

"As the only true test let us take a trip on the through train the entire distance from Detroit to Ironton, 378.4 miles. Ah, we find that the 'through' train is the only train, and that, after all, it is not a 'through' train; it ties up all night at Balnbridge. What shall we do? Take a flivver? Never, we shall adhere sternly to our original purpose."

"We take No. 2 at 9:10 a. m., and after an all day ride we arrive at Balnbridge at 3:25 p. m. Here we tie up and spend a joyous evening swapping yarns at the village tavern. But what is a lay-over of 15 hours and 46 minutes between friends? We would do far more for Henry; deed we would—anything short of swabbing out the soupers of a 'peace ship' with Madam Schwimmer to boss us." The following day we resume our gladiolous journey at 10:11 a. m., arriving at Ironton at 2:30 p. m., only thirty hours for a trip of 378.4 miles.

"Well, perhaps we can do better on the branches. We turn to the Wellston branch. Alas, no trains are scheduled. Let's try the Kingman branch. Here is hope, for while no trains are listed, we find a word of promise. It is marked 'train service irregular.' The wanted advice, then, must be on the line connecting Detroit and Toledo, two big cities. Here is where we shall find hourly express service. One look and we turn sadly away. It is marked, 'No regular passenger service maintained.'"

The dust is again deep.
On boastful Babel land,
And Cleopatra's wealth
Is lost in drifting sand,
And paralyzed for aye
Is Caesar's accepted hand.

But Greece—what glory hers
For art and mystic lore!
Old Aeschylus still sings,
And Plato opens the door
To Wisdom's high retreat
For man—still drunk with gore.

Jerusalem, once proud,
Is now a beggar throng;
Its walls are broken down,
Though once so fiercely strong.
But still the air is sweet
With plaintive Hebrew song.

T. C. C.
THERE is nothing new to complain about this a. m. except the disparity in the statistics cited by Major Leonard Darwin in his lecture before the International Congress of Eugenics. He estimates the feeble-minded in the United States number between 300,000 and 400,000, whereas it is a well known fact that the kukoo klan membership is 650,000.

AND, once more, we circle back to Josh Billings: "I have much doubt that man sprang from the monkey, but where did the monkey spring from?"

OUR patriotic press continues to heap anathema upon the k. k. k. to the huzzas of an intelligent public. Invisible empire obtained in this land of the very free long before the k. k. k. was thought of. Wall Street, certain forms of unionism, lobbyists, Lundin, business agents—the woods are full of them.

Behind the Times.
Sir: Strolling along the Boul Mich this a. m. I was astounded at the large number of unsightly feminine legs. The thought came: "If we could see ourselves as others see us (from behind), there would be many longer skirts worn."

"CHIEF PITZMORRIS says 2,500 policemen are bootleggers."

THE whippersnappers, all small voice.

Mebbe, We're Forgotten.
Sir: My cigar goes out. I pause in my evening stroll to light it. Just above my head, through the open sun parlor window, floats out in strident female tones: "It's mu-ni-sa-pel—I guess I know." It must be wonderful to have brains, I muse, as I HICKORY DICK.

FAR be it from us, he hemmed, to cast the first stone, but anything to accommodate a contriv which uses a typewriter, and R. C. J. does: "May we not soon have another day for the return of books? My typewriter stands and several others equally well beloved have been so long beyond my ken that reading them upon their return will be nearly as pleasant as the first perusal!"

TO THE OWL.
Ten Thousand Sonnets. Can so many sonnets be? O Owl, such numbers are too wonderful for me! I can to thee: appreciation ne'er attain! No wonder you are just—well, just a little vain.

And so from Sonnetteers you've cast poor Shakespeare out! Well, he must pay the price, since rules he chose to flout.

How grandly different 't would have been if only he, Like you, had scanned the great Petrarchan Three One Three.

You think the Muse a goddess acrobatic! And see her fire as something mathematical.

Poor Owl, you are not flying over the golden heights: You're only roosting on the parish pump these nights.

MOORDYKE.

The League of Nations.

Sir: Now let me tell you of the "Triple Trio" that played last week at the McVicker's Theatre. They were Spanish ashees, Turkish fezzes, French flowing ties, American white pants, and the scene was on a canal in Venice. Great is the League of Nations. Although I do not know what that has to do with the eloquent salesman at Field's, in the bedding department, who invariably concludes, "Madam, this is one of the best mattresses we sell. You can't go wrong on this mattress."

"MOBS OF Scots Peril British Colony Chief."

ET TU!
CONTEMPLATING the so-called "Great British Empire in these changing days, one can do no better than paraphrase Voltaire's famous epigram: It is not great, it is not British, and is not an empire."

Why Not? Everything Else Does!

Sir: Publicity has killed the Bug Club. The speakers are beginning to take themselves seriously.

Nothing better has been said in recent years than Mr. Taylor's comment: "The thinking of our contemporary wise men is merely a matter of terminology," which reminds me of a prominent and constant speaker at the late Hobo College. Whenever he saw that the interest of his audience was lagging, he had merely to say, "Well, as Bob Ingersoll says, or 'You know how Tom Paine put it,' and immediately the audience woke up. When asked what his philosophy was, he put it, "It ain't what you sez but who sez it, that counts."

Will that apply to a colyum conductor?

By some one or something in my room.
I could hear the swish of his garments.
The soft swish, swish, as it moved.
I lay spellbound, my heart beating loudly.
"Surely," I thought, "The thing must hear.
And then it will find me and kill me!"

Swish! Swish! I tried to scream.
But dared not. I lay in agony.

For over me floated the face of my friend
Whose coffin I had lowered that afternoon—
Suddenly the curtain flapped!

SURGEON LEARNS FROM NATURE.

I HAVE been interested and edited by a rereading of a book issued nearly twelve years ago by a surgeon attending some of the great London hospitals—Sir William H. Bennett. It has to do with fractures and sprains and the management of stiff joints generally.

While it is frankly special pleading, it is interesting and provocative nevertheless. It is written for surgeons and mass-men, but it has an appeal to the laity, since surgeons do not run too far from truth to public opinion.

Sir William calls our attention to the good results following fractures of the bones of the hand and wrist where no immobilizing of the bones has been possible. Also to the good results in fracture of the ribs where such motion as there is goes on unimpeded during the fracture. On the other hand, fractures of the skull frequently result in death.

Having observed many facts along these lines, Sir William was led to a policy of treating both fractures and sprains by rest and massage. Few need beginning within three days after the injury.

In the case of fractures of the spine and of the neck, of course, but the neighboring muscles, tendons, ligaments and joints are not to be left quiet and undisturbed. It has sometimes happened that when fractured bones were not moved, the muscles and tendons became rigid and the patient would have to be kept in bed for a year or even for life. The nearby joints were stiff. Sometimes it was necessary to give an anesthetic and loosen up the muscles in these joints.

Sometimes the ligaments and tendons seemed to be bound. Sometimes the muscles were found to be considerably shrunken. The nerves were caught in the inflammatory mass and the patient had rheumatic pains, rainy weather pains, neuralgic pains and pain and tenderness on exertion for a long time.

Dr. Bennett claims that all these after effects of fractures by starting motion in nearby joints, gentle rubbing, massage and passive motion within four days after the fracture and keeping them up for a week or more. He claims that the fingers every day from the very beginning. About three days after the first dressing the back splint is removed for a little while and gentle even stroking of the nearby skin is done. The back splint is then replaced.

A little later more massaging and more passive motion is given. The nutrition of the muscles is kept up by the use of electricity. It is claimed that following this method fractures heal better, there are fewer adhesions in joints, the inflammatory reaction is less, fewer parts together, muscles shrink less and pain and tenderness are lessened.

Some children are not hardy enough for four feedings. If he insists, feed every three hours, but not often. Two months from now every four hours.

"INDIAN DAY."

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Congress may be called upon to consider a bill to nationalize one day in the year to be known as "Indian Day."

This "Indian Day" talk is all nonsense. If Congress should pass a bill for "Indian Day," other races might follow our trail to Washington and ask a day for their race. Just imagine America flooded with racial days. If such be the case, America may be compelled to allocate a year to more than 365 days in order to keep peace in the family. How glorious! One continual round of holidays for Uncle Sam.

Who wants the "Indian Day"? The Indians? If they do I do not hear their grunts of approval or shouts of enthusiasm. Those who make a study of the Indian want "Indian Day." And we must not overlook the morbid curiosity seekers. They want to be amused and entertained by exaggerated portrayals of J. Fenimore Cooper's blanketed and feathered Indians. They are enthusiastic to have an "Indian Day."

There is a vast difference between study of the Indian as an Indian and taking him as a man.

NOTHING remains of the old Winter Garden but the name. A new management, armed with a desire to surpass the efforts of the finest hotel cuisines, has created in its place a SELF-SERVICE RESTAURANT which easily excels all previous attempts to combine quality foods and refinement of appointments with the modern economical advantages of self-service.

The atmosphere of the new Winter Garden self-service restaurant is inspiring. An innovation is the neatly uniformed "extra service" maids in attendance at the tables. In fact, none of the little details which give added pleasure to dining have been overlooked. And Mothers will be glad to learn that the "kiddies," too, are welcome—we've prepared special menus that will bring joy to the hearts of the little ones, and put roses in their cheeks.

Visit the new Winter Garden self-service restaurant today. Note the high standard of service and food maintained; note the excellence of cuisine; the ample portions (enough for two); the unusually complete menu, the astonishingly low prices, and we know you will be happy to come every day thereafter.

Failed to Support Law, Kenyon Says.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Wholesale grocery organizations have failed to secure the active assistance of Senator Kenyon of Iowa, leader in the fight for packer legislation, in their effort to prevent the modification of the court decree applying to the "big five" meat packers.

Senator Kenyon said today that he has turned such protests as have reached him over to Attorney General Daugherty.

"The grocers failed to give us any support in our attempts to obtain legislation," Senator Kenyon said. "They were satisfied with the court decree prohibiting the packers from engaging in unrelated lines of business. As a result of their attitude we left out of the bill a provision prohibiting the packers from engaging in unrelated lines, although it was included in one of the early drafts."

Under the circumstances I am disposed to let the grocers fight the matter out in the courts. Just as I expected, requests for modification of the decree have been made as soon as the packers' legislation was on the statute books."

The hearing on the question of the intervention of the grocers in the application of California fruit growers for modification of the packers' decree has been postponed until Thursday. At that time Justice Stafford of the District of Columbia Supreme court will hear arguments by former Senator Hoke Smith on behalf of the

MOTHER, ILL, SEEKS GLEN ELLYN YOUTH MISSING FROM HOME

An anxious mother, ill from the worry of the disappearance of her son, Clarence Mason Dodge, 27 years old, appealed to the police last night to assist in locating him. He disappeared from his home in Glen Ellyn, Ill., July 18.

Dodge was formerly a sergeant in Battery A, 4th field artillery, and was discharged from Camp Stanley Oct. 26, 1920, after seven years' continuous service in the army. His contingent was one of the first in France, where he was decorated several times for valor.

grocers. Justice Stafford appeared disposed last week not only to refuse the National Wholesale Grocers' association the right to intervene in the case, but also to rescind the action previously taken by another judge of the court while Justice Stafford was on his vacation, giving the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association the right to intervene.

May Deny Both Appeals. It is considered likely that Justice Stafford, following Thursday's hearing, may refuse both organizations the right to appear in the case. Such action would be in accordance with the position of the department of justice, which is opposed to their participation.

Thus far the packers themselves have taken no part in the proceedings. The application for modification of the decree was made by California fruit growers who desire some arrangement by which their products can be transported to eastern markets in the refrigerator cars owned by the packers.

BRYAN RAP'S BEER BILL FILIBUSTER; "UNDEMOCRATIC"

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—William J. Bryan paid his respects today to the senate filibusters against passage of the anti-beer bill. "The conference report of the anti-beer bill meets the situation," said Mr. Bryan. "The supporters of enforcement do not desire to make the laws any more strict than necessary to compel obedience. A private residence is a permanent building and it is entirely proper to require a warrant for search. This might even be extended to permit any bona fide resident to protect his home from search without warrant by making affidavit that he has no liquor unlawfully concealed therein."

"But it is different with automobiles. To require a warrant before searching a suspected auto would practically nullify the law. The auto could get into another county before a warrant could be secured. It is inconceivable that any dry senator can be deceived by the mock heroics of the wets."

"Liberty to disobey the law is not considered sacred by any large percentage of the American people. A filibuster by a minority to prevent the enforcement of a constitutional provision is about as undemocratic a procedure as could be imagined, especially a constitutional provision which outlaws a criminal traffic."

"GOOD HEALTH" TO BE CLASS A-1 IN ALL SCHOOLS

War Has Waked Up Yank
Pedagogue.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—Good health will become a habit rather than a fortunate possibility if the program recommended for American school children by the bureau of education is generally adopted in the elementary schools.

For three years, ever since the onslaught of war brought out the appalling number of physical defectives among our young men, the bureau, working in close cooperation with the national health organization of America, has been working intensively to make health a definite part of the training given all children in the schools. "Health can be taught," it says, "the theory only but the habit, which alone will lead to healthy bodies."

The Sine Qua Non. If the schools do not teach health, much of all else they do teach, the bureau points out, is wasted. The climax of the bureau's campaign comes with the publication this week of a carefully arranged program for health teaching in the elementary grades. The child health organization of the country, which is written by teachers and based on actual experiments. It is designed for the use of student teachers in the normal schools or for practicing teachers, and supplies the basis for the enrollment of every school in America in the effort to bring complete physical health to the children of the nation.

Some New "Studies." For the children these are the special rules of the health game: "A full bath often; than once a week; brushing the teeth at least once a day; a movement of the bowels every day; sleeping long hours with windows open; drinking much milk and no tea or coffee; eating vegetables and fruit every day; drinking at least four glasses of water a day; playing part of every day out of doors." For the teachers, rule No. 1 is the weighing and measuring of every child once a month and entering the record in the pupil's report card as regularly as his grade in arithmetic. His weight, height and his rate of gain can then be compared with the standard health tables.

Another measure urged is a physical examination for every child who enters school. Individualized health training, special time for health teaching through all the grades, health clubs, and cooperation among all the health agencies inside the school and outside it are other factors.

Health clowns and health fairies, health plays, contests in health posters and health rhymes, health charts on which weights and gains in weight are regularly recorded are recommended as increasing the interest and spirit of friendly competition which make the winning of health a new game to the children.

The importance of the school doctor and the school nurse is emphasized, but the most effective agency, the bureau maintains, if daily health habits are to be instilled in boys and girls, is the classroom teacher who is with them throughout the day.

HEALTH BUREAU OPENS CAMPAIGN ON DIPHTHERIA

A city wide campaign against diphtheria and its causes is planned by a new commission appointed yesterday by Dr. John Dill Robertson, commissioner of health. The commission is composed of twenty-two physicians, numerous social workers, and representatives of the daily newspapers. The weekly report of the health department showed a total of 142 cases of diphtheria during the week, an increase of forty over the previous week. Of the total of 933 deaths in the city last week, 106 were babies less than a year old.

Investigation into the death of Fred Christensen, cashier of the Glen View State bank, who was found dead Saturday, a bullet wound through his side, on the floor of the bank, showed that more than one man participated in the shooting and attempted robbery, according to Chief of Police Ernest Schultz of Glen View. Chief Schultz indicated that he had received some important information and that he expected to have the men in custody before the week is over.

Here's the Mine Part Of Your Anthracite Bill

IT IS HARD for the anthracite user to believe that somebody is not making a big profit on coal at say $14 a ton. (It costs more in some parts of the country). But show him an itemized bill of mining costs and he is able to judge for himself concerning mine owners' profits. Here are the facts:

THE AVERAGE RECEIVED BY THE PRODUCER AT THE MINE FOR HIS TOTAL TONNAGE IS $6.15.

Only about 60 per cent of all anthracite (the domestic sizes, grate, stove, egg and nut) is sold at the mine at prices ranging from $7.60 to $8.60. Ten per cent is pea sold at $6.00. The remaining 30 per cent is composed of the very small "steam" sizes, (buckwheat, rice and barley), and sells at an average of about $2.25 a ton—much BELOW the average cost of production.

The average cost of producing a gross ton of run-of-mine anthracite, preparing it in 8 marketable sizes and loading on cars, at the present time is $5.55. This cost is divided as follows:

Labor, per ton . . .	$3.92
Materials	1.05
Insurance, taxes, selling expense, etc.	.58
	$5.55

This cost applies alike to coal selling at the mine for $7.50 a ton or more and to the small by-product sizes of coal selling as low as $1.50 a ton.

Subtracting the average cost of production ($5.55) from the average price at the mines ($6.15), leaves a margin of 60 cents to the mine owner. Federal Taxes and interest on investment must be paid out of this 60 cents before any profit can be made.

The U. S. Fuel Administration found that anthracite mines have an investment of about $8 per ton of annual production.

In an industry involving so much of hazard as the mining of coal, a return of 10% on the investment could not be considered excessive. This alone would permit 80 cents per ton profit—if anybody could make that much.

The figures show a cost of production making it absolutely impossible (after Federal taxes and interest on borrowed money are provided for) for the anthracite mine owner to make more than 50 cents a ton profit. Few exceed it, many make less and some are operating at a loss.

The difference between the mine price and the retail price is accounted for by freight charges and the cost of retail distribution, in the profits of which the anthracite producer does not share.

LAND TAX URGED ON SENATE BODY TO AID JOBLESS

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—[Special.]—Criticism of the tax bill as reported from the senate finance committee is contained in a letter sent by Representative Keller of Minnesota, today to Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Mr. Keller asks the privilege of appearing before the conference on unemployment, which is scheduled to open tomorrow, to explain his tax bill, which provides that the largest source of revenue shall be a tax on land. The tax on land, he declares, will force property owners to make improvements in order to make their holdings profitable and this in turn will help the unemployment situation.

Is Help to Millionaires.
"The house has passed and the senate finance committee has favorably reported a revenue bill which accretes all these injustices," says Mr. Keller. "True, it relieves less than 20,000 millionaires of about $600,000,000 in taxes, but it shifts this burden to about 200,000 small business men, who must pay an additional tax of $300 each a year."

"President Harding's message to congress called for 'a lifting and not a shifting of taxation.' There is only one way to lift taxes from industry. That is to transfer part of the load to land values. Industrial values and land values in the United States approximate $140,000,000,000 each, yet in 1919 some $4,000,000,000 in taxes were levied upon industry and only $600,000,000 in land values."

Benefit of Land Taxes.
"Land is the only thing which has its use stimulated by taxation. If business is taxed heavily it becomes unprofitable. But if land values are taxed, the property must be used in order to get revenue to pay the tax. If the owner is unwilling or unable to develop it he must sell it to some one who will. Exemption of improvements and taxation of land values inevitably has this effect."

"New York presents the latest example of what can be accomplished by exempting improvements and taxing land. Early this year the city council passed an ordinance exempting housing improvements from taxation for ten years. The immediate result—despite general depression—has been the construction of dwellings at the rate of 1,000 per week."

Building Permits Increase.
"Building permits in New York are more than 150 per cent greater in number than a year ago and if the present rate of construction is continued the value of residential structures erected in New York this year will be $100,000,000 greater than in 1920."

Debate on the tax bill is scheduled to begin in the senate tomorrow. The leaders hope that it will be passed within two weeks and that the bill will reach President Harding by the latter part of October.

Ex-Chicago Lawyer Quits

Job as Far East Premier

RIGA, Sept. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—A. T. Krasnotchekoff, former Chicago lawyer and recently premier of the Far Eastern republic of Siberia, has been relieved of his duties because of illness, says the Moscow Pravda's Chita correspondent.

HUNTER FORGETS GUN IS LOADED; LOSES LEFT LEG

Carl Alfrey, 2434 North Lorel avenue, Austin, was fighting for life in St. Charles hospital, Aurora, last night as the result of a shotgun wound accidentally inflicted by himself while hunting with a party of Chicago friends yesterday.

Alfrey forgot his gun was loaded and leaned against his leg while he reached for some shells in his pocket. The gun was discharged, the full charge entering Alfrey's left hip.

He arrived at the Aurora hospital at the point of death from shock and loss of blood, physicians say, and amputation of the left leg at the hip was decided upon as the only chance to save his life.

INSANE FUGITIVE CAPTURED.
Andrew Thorn, 30 years old, an inmate of the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane at Dunlap, was captured by the Irving Park police yesterday and returned to the asylum.

Coroner and Police Chief to Head New Safety Drive

In an effort to cut down the number of street accidents in Chicago, a conference of all the organized forces in the county, headed by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman and Chief of Police Fitzmorris, will be held today at Hotel Sherman.

Records in the coroner's office indicate that unless curbed at once the number of deaths from automobile accidents will exceed 600 this year, as compared to 540 in 1920.

Scandal of Low Prices for Corn

Farmers Losing Hundreds of Millions Through Over-Estimates of Crop by U. S. Department of Agriculture

Over a BILLION Bushels LESS corn produced in the crops of 1921-'20-'19 than officially reported—Twelve million FEWER Acres in corn this year than official estimate—Deliberate FAILURE of Department to correct its reports to the true basis established by actual count of acres and yield taken by the federal CENSUS.

Abnormally low prices for cattle, hogs and sheep caused partly by official gross MISREPRESENTATION of oversupply of old and new corn—These two factors constitute "the crime of 1921"—Corn is easily worth ten to fifteen cents a bushel more than quoted today—Secretary Wallace Accused of Incompetency by Farm and Home—Investigation Demanded.

IF FROSTS HOLD OFF until all the corn can be harvested, the favoring temperatures and rains of August warrant the government's estimate that the month increased the prospective yield by 154 million bushels. First two weeks in September also were remarkably favorable to corn in most sections. But long experience has taught corn growers that even favorable weather after August 1 may not fully increase the size of the ears, tip them out or fill out the kernels where the crop has suffered from July and June drought.

Not as Many Acres

Government's August 1 estimate is for an average yield per acre of 29.26 bushels upon 108,901,000 acres, making a total of 3,187 million bushels, against 3,032 million last year, 3,131 million in 1920 and 2,859 million bushels in 1919. But, as Farm and Home exposed two months back, actual count by the federal census found only 2,356 million bushels of corn in 1919, showing an overestimate by the United States department of agriculture on the 1919 crop of 503 million bushels. It was grown upon only 87.7 million acres, according to census count, while the government had estimated 100 million acres.

Mistakes for This Year

Farm and Home charges that the crop reporting bureau of the department has deliberately failed to correct its corn acreage figures for 1920 and '21 to the census basis. We have done so and find that this year has only about 96 million acres in corn. If the department's yield per acre of 29.26 bushels is correct, the crop on the present 96 million acres is only 2,812 million bushels, or 374 million less than the government estimate. Add this to the government's apparent overestimate of 883 million bushels on the two corn crops of 1919-'20, and we have an overestimate on the three crops of 1,157 million bushels of corn.

Errors Cause Vast Loss

Is it any wonder that corn has been arbitrarily depressed in price for months past and is now selling far below its true value upon the department's representation that the supply is so vastly in excess of what was actually produced?

Sec. Wallace should have had the corn acreage readjusted to the census basis in its August 1 report, certainly in the September 1. Also, it should have corrected to the census basis its official estimate of the quantity of corn on hand March, 1921.

Farm and Home charges that the gross error of Secretary Wallace's corn crop reports are costing growers many millions. We believe that disinterested expert investigation will accept the census basis as substantially correct. In such case the conclusion is justified that the available supply of corn in the United States this October 1, both old and new, is less per capita of population than for several years.

Huge Foreign Demand

Meanwhile, the export demand has steadily increased. In the 12 months ended this June 30 United States exported 67 million bushels of corn, over four times as much as the two previous years' average, plus nearly a million barrels of corn meal and corn flour, or twice as much as in previous year. Foreign shipments of corn and its products for the three months ending this September 30 will break all records. August exports were 14 million bushels, or 17 times as much as in like month previous year. For eight months ended August we shipped abroad 86 million bushels, against less than 11 millions in same period of previous year and half that in the year before. Indeed during these eight months exports of corn were nearly double the quantity shipped in the period of the war year!

Worth 10 to 15c More

Farm and Home believes that the actual and intrinsic value of corn on the farms of America today is at least from 10 to 15 cents a bushel above what it has been selling for since spring.

We charge that the abnormally low market quotations for corn have been partly due to the government's misrepresentation by its overestimate of the supply produced during the past three years and of the quantity on hand March 1. But for these conditions farmers should have received several cents a bushel more for their corn of 1919-'20 crops, while prices in recent months and at present should be 10 to 15 cents a bushel above the actual quotations.

THAT BILLION FOR FARMERS

May Regenerate Agriculture More in Next 100 Days

Than All That Has Been Done in Past 100 Years

(Editorial from October Farm and Home)

Do You Need Cash?

ONE BILLION DOLLARS FOR RELIEF of farmers is now at hand! Newest, biggest, best plan yet to put farmers on their feet again. And the money is ready right now, TODAY!

"How can I get my share of it?" you ask. Read bottom of this page. It tells you just what to do and how to do it. The rest is up to you.

The new law granting this billion was epitomized in our September number. It is an emergency measure to meet the crisis in agriculture caused by last season's collapse in farm prices and by present conditions abroad. Its privileges must be grasped now or not at all, as no advances are to be made after next July 1.

The new plan affords such aid to co-operative associations that their number and efficiency will be stimulated. Associated effort in production and marketing may now become a reality instead of a theory. The U. S. warehousing act provides that licensed warehouses may be established, whose receipts are good collateral at any bank. Production of good crops, their assembling, grading, preparation and marketing, is now possible co-operatively on a business basis that only requires capable management to succeed permanently.

Right use of all these new facilities for Cash, Credit, Co-operation available NOW to farmers, individual and grouped, may in these coming 100 days do more to regenerate American agriculture and to reorganize it upon a business basis than all that has been done in the past 100 years.

ROMANTIC LURE OF UKULELELAND APPEALS TO U.S.

Many Americans Seek Jobs in Hawaii.

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 1.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—The romantic lure of the south seas has become so potent throughout the world that the Honolulu chamber of commerce is faced with an increasingly serious and embarrassing problem. Its officials announced here recently.

For inhabitants of the crass, cold commercial world of the temperate zone desire—and make their desires known in a pile of mail that is increasing constantly with each steamer—to have their romantic atmosphere and come to Hawaii, the land of music and flowers, where tradition has the golden moon always full, and where a person's life, according to popular belief, consists of lying on the shaded beach at Waikiki, fanned by the cooling trade winds, and reaching up occasionally to pluck enough fruit from the overloaded boughs to afford sustenance.

All kinds of correspondents. The writers of the last steamer's mail ranged from stenographers, educators, chiropractists, and ex-jockeys to schoolboys and countless others. All emphasized the great sacrifice they would make in coming to the islands. The only condition they impose about the positions they hoped to obtain was that they be "soft," according to Mrs. E. K. Stone, acting secretary of the chamber.

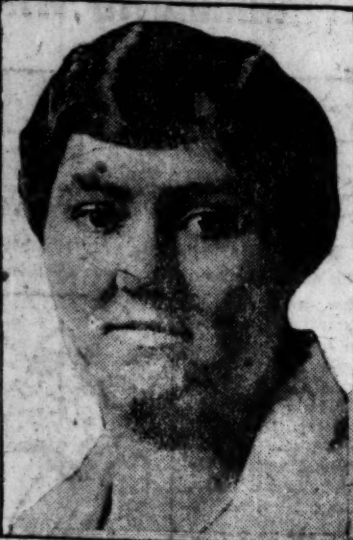

"That's all they want," she added. "The number of letters containing the same request is increasing with each steamer, and some drastic measures will have to be taken soon to cope with the situation. It can't go on, or the chamber building will be inundated."

One graduate of four leading universities, with a long string of degrees capped with a "Ph.D.," desired to come to some local corporation as an "efficiency educator."

Would Hemstitch in Hawaii.

Another letter asked whether hemstitching was popular in the islands. If so, the woman desired to transport her sewing to Honolulu. A young man in the backwoods of Maine offered to travel 5,000 miles to Hawaii to instruct the residents in higher education.

A girl in California referred to the spell that the Hawaiian moon has cast over her and wondered whether she couldn't help out some business man by doing "just a little typing."

Another incident illustrating the lure of the tropics concerned a letter that some friends of an army enlisted man stationed here wrote to a newspaper in Portsmouth, England, signing the private's name without his knowledge.

This is more or less a lonely life for a fellow in Honolulu, as white women are scarce, the joking letter read.

More than 1,000 women in England have written thus far, offering to marry the man, he said recently. The women range in age from 14 to 40, but all have felt the urge of the south seas.

GIRL FLOURISHES PISTOL AS MEN ROB CHAUFFEUR

It was a feminine voice which directed Louis Kretzke, taxi driver, of 739 Montrose avenue, to elevate his hands early yesterday morning.

A revolver nuzzled against his neck—then the young lady's two male companions relieved him of $25 and his machine. The trio hired the cab at 28th street and Michigan avenue, and the robbery occurred at 21st place and Leavitt street.

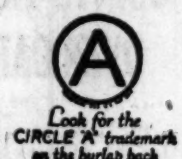

Two other motorists reported similar thefts to the police. At Keeler and Colorado avenue four men jumped to the running board of an automobile owned by Walter C. Look, 3241 Gladys avenue, took $40 from him, and then drove away with the car. Julius

The Modern Floor for Modern Homes

PEOPLE of taste and refinement—living in beautiful, modern homes—are today putting their finest rugs on floors of Linoleum.

These linoleum floors are in many instances installed when the house is built. Architects are specifying modern linoleum for all the floors in the home—floors of living-rooms, dining-rooms, libraries, bedrooms, sun porches.

Go into any good store and ask the salesman to show you Armstrong's Linoleum. See what a smooth, solid floor it makes—how comfortable it is under foot. You walk quietly upon it, and you do not slip—nor do your rugs treacherously glide from under your feet.

Plain colors, Jaspé (two-tone) effects, and a variety of distinctive parquetry, inlaid, printed, and other designs, from which you may choose.

Any store will be glad to give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum floors, put down in your home. The modern way is to have your linoleum cemented down over a layer of deadening felt paper. So laid, your floor is always smooth, tight, waterproof.

All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THERE THE RESEMBLANCE CEASES

IT SAYS HERE THE MORMON TABERNACLE IS PUT TOGETHER WITH WOODEN PEGS—THERE ISN'T A NAIL IN IT!

THERE ISN'T A NAIL IN IT!

DON'T FAIL TO HEAR THE WONDERFUL ACOUSTIC SOUND IN THE TABERNACLE. AND THERE ISN'T A NAIL IN IT!

NOT A NAIL IN IT!

SKEEZIX—LOOK! WE'VE GOT A PUNCTURE OR SOMETHING!

GOSH! IT'S ROUND ON TOP AND FLAT ON THE BOTTOM LIKE THE TABERNACLE—BUT THERE'S A NAIL IN IT!

THE YANKS

knocked out Ray Caldwell in the second inning, and scored ten runs off Lefty.

Mails in the two innings he pitched. Of the eight earned runs scored on Mails in the fourth inning.

seven were registered before a New York player was retired.

Another Homer for Meusel.

Clark, a youngster, also was pounded hard. Meusel and Fowler hitting him for runs late in the game.

Meusel's home run was his twenty-fourth of the season and enabled him to tie the Williams of the St. Louis Browns for second place in Ruth among major league home run hitters.

Carl Mays was hit hard at times, but always was in a position to take things easy. It was his twenty-sixth victory of the season. Mays is the first pitcher in either league to win over twenty-five games this year.

40,000 See Game.

A capacity crowd of 40,000 persons saw the game. Rain fell at intervals during the game, but never had enough to stop play. Score:

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

low do all the fighting, his own sole ambition being to avoid a knockout.

It is a poor, cheap substitute for a champion, and no champion will self-respect will be so entirely lacking in pride as to employ it. A real champion, like Benny Leonard or Jack Dempsey, always tries his best to win. Both of these champions have often said that when they meet a man they can't beat they'll be satisfied to lose the championship, congratulate the winner, and retire gracefully.

No Place in Sport for Stalling.

Looking back over the performances of Al McCoy, Wilson, and two or three others of the same stamp, we are inclined to think it's unfortunate there have been no precedents for throwing of the ring. Savage might have made a reputation by establishing a precedent. But it's a hard place for a referee.

After all, a referee feels bound to try to help the spectators and there is always the chance that there may be some real action in the later rounds of a slow bout. Jim Savage knows as much about boxing as any heavyweight in the ring, and in his time, he has delivered the goods in many a hard fight. He's as good a referee as any in New Jersey.

Wilson? Oh, yes, he'll get another match somewhere. Down in New Orleans they want him against Littleton—merely because Littleton is likely to knock him out and take the title. Here's hoping. And after that Wilson will join Al McCoy in the cellar of the annex to the Hall of Fame.

Let's get rid of the "dead ones" in boxing, even if they happen to have wandered into possession of a championship. There are plenty of good live boxers around this country. Boxing as a sport shouldn't suffer because once in a while a counterfeiter gets into circulation.

No Stalling on Gridiron.

In a little while the whole country will be playing football or looking on from grandstand seats. One reason for the great popularity of the king of college games is that there's no stalling on the gridiron.

Jack Dempsey, having no fighting to do at present, is going to do a little moving picture work. But what's a man not fighting? In the movies is where Jack is called on to fight eighteen men at one time, and usually there are three or four that would like to sneak over a K. O. punch on the heavyweight champion, and are looking for a chance to do it. One Soldier Stanton copped Jack last year, but missed the K. O. by far enough to find himself in the movie hospital for repairs ten minutes later. Sometimes movie fights, with no purse attached, are better than the real $100,000 article. This image shows a vertical strip of aged, textured paper or parchment. The surface is heavily worn, with numerous fine scratches, scuffs, and discolorations. The color is a mix of light beige and dark brown, indicating significant age and possibly water damage or staining. A prominent dark, irregular border runs along the right edge, which could be the edge of the paper or a shadow from the scanning process. The overall appearance is that of an old, weathered document fragment.

Illinois Joins War
Sunday

The opening shot in the battle to make Sunday a day of rest was fired yesterday when the Illinois state superintendent of education, Mr. J. B. Burns, announced that there are 25,000,000 people in the country willing to sign a petition in support of the proposed blue laws. Mr. Burns' statement was a direct answer to the assertion of the movement for passing legislation to enforce and create a day of rest when they take it. They will have a petition with names.

Twenty-fourth State in the Illinois is the twenty-fourth state in the nation to have the edgels in the hands of the people, according to the constitution, "but that is what the state for the day he will open a suit in the Congress hotel and begin the selection of a committee.

"Persons reading about blue laws think they are a joke, and that they are passed in this country, but that is what is the prohibition."

"Under able leadership advocates are now planning congress and ask the amendment to the constitution making it unlawful to work on Sunday except to read the Bible. They are doing the same. Among the members of the committee already selected are Hiram, Horace J. B. Brown, William J. M. Hunt, M. A. Greenbaum, James J. Crowley, Philipson, Mrs. Moses L. Charles C. Robbins, and Taylor Treadwell.

Afraid this will have to be classed with the Mix "seconds." Not a bad picture—but not such a good one, either.

The star is cast as "Whistling Dan," and his eyes get yellow when he's angry. He probably sees red, but the other fellow, looking at him, sees yellow, and if the punning is good, vaudeville in craven terror.

A wild sort of creature is Whistling Dan—irresponsible, and possessed of innumerable wanderlust. On the night before he is scheduled to wed the daughter of his adopted father he hears the wild geyse cry and leaves home to follow them. This almost breaks his foster father's heart. The girl, however, understands him and quietly prepares to wait until he comes back.

Most of the picture is given over to detailing the experiences of Dan until he does "come back." They are experiences that entail much shooting, hard riding, etc., as per most of the Mix films. This one falls down by reason that there's not much logical occasion for anything happening that does.

The star shows but little of his usual enthusiasm; the girl in the case is a mediocre player and has no personality. Most of the men in the support have played with Mix before, and as you run your eyes over the cast you will see that they are acquaintances of yours.

Scenery and photography please the eye and Mr. Mix's own horse and dog furnish one vurr' good reason for viewing the picture.

CLOSEUPS

Rockcliffe Fellowes, the "caveman hero" of the screen, plans to leave the silver sheet desolate. He's going to play in "Pot Luck" on the stage. The play is Kilbourn Gordon's, and James Regnie, who is Mr. Dorothy Gish, also will be in the cast.

George Arliss is to star in the screen version of "Idle Hands," by Earl Derr Biggers, author of "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Wallace Reid, having completed his latest picture, "Reckless," is taking a vacation in the California hills.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE
NEW YORK. (Special Correspondence.)—A new sleeve doesn't mean any more to us nowadays than a holiday means to a man out of work. The autumn modes are filled with new sleeves. The world is a babel of arms, and we shall soon be crying in the midst of our confusion for some reconciling language, some Esperanto of the sleeve speaking dresses.

The above frock illustrates another new model of sleeve in which the plaited white georgette of the corsage is partially eclipsed by the white serge of the skirt. However, the originality of the model is not dependent here, as is the case with so many autumn modes, upon the whim of the sleeve.

For a draped peplum held over one shoulder by a strap of the serge is sufficient to differentiate the frock. Bands of orange crepe give the one note of color.

A PHENIX PRODUCT

Few people know it, but one pound of cheese has all the food elements of 2½ pounds of beefsteak.

"Philadelphia" Cream Cheese is one of the most beautiful of all cheeses. Rich in butter fats, proteins and the newly discovered "vitamines." Only the genuine has "PHILADELPHIA" on the label.

HAROLD TEEN—WONDER WHAT HAROLD THINKS ABOUT?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

DOUBTFUL: I LOVE IT ON SOME GIRLS. The type I like best with bobbed hair is the long slender necked girl. But get the idea out of your head that it is going to make life simpler. Every bobbed headed girl will tell you, unless she has had a permanent wave, which only lasts six months at best, that it is more of a trial than the long tresses she had before.

NELLIE: AN APPLE EATEN IN THE EVENING will mechanically cleanse the teeth, and if followed by proper brushing will protect them from the action of bacteria during the night. Fruit acids, such as grape juice, orange and lemon juice, stimulate the flow of saliva and are cleansing.

PETER: ALCOHOL AS AN ANTI-SEPTIC has the objection of being irritating to raw surfaces. Peroxide and boracic acid are fine antiseptics. Boric acid (10 per cent) in vaseline makes a good antiseptic ointment for general use.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Auntie Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

Freddie had come into possession of a dog—something he had always wanted. He and the dog were inseparable. Conrad asked him to his birthday party.

He hesitated, but finally said: "I'd like to go first rate, if I can take my dog along. Where I go he goes. It's just like we were twins." R. C.

Jean is rather a precocious youngster, and often trumps up a clever excuse for getting out of the things she doesn't wish to do. The other afternoon we had visitors who insisted that Jean recite some jingles for them. As she didn't want to do it, she excused herself by saying, "I don't know any but Christmas ones and I don't like to say them out of season."

New Music Master at Oak Park High School

Anton H. Embs of Milwaukee, formerly director of music of the Berkeley, Cal., public schools, has been appointed temporarily to the directorship of the Oak Park High school music activities, succeeding Glenn Dillard Gunn. Mr. Embs is a member of the faculty of the American Institute of Normal Methods at Northwestern University.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Then He Remembered. Every afternoon after school I had to go to the meat market. One day I was not supposed to buy anything, but by force of habit I went into the store and waited for my turn. After standing there for a long time the man asked me what I wanted, and then I remembered I was not supposed to buy anything. I mumbled something about forgetting and hastened out amid the smiles of the people.

Always Time to Laugh. I was suddenly stopped with a jerk and then sat down awkwardly. My high-heel had caught in a grating and lodged there. I was actually embarrassed to tears when I had to get up and work my slipper loose. Of course I jerked the shoe and it pulled the heel loose, and I had to walk on my tip toe to the nearest shoe cobbler. In spite of the fact that it was busy noon hour many people had plenty of time to stop and laugh. I. M. R.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Lack of Pride. "Dear Miss Blake: I have been going about with a young man for the last eight months. For the last few weeks he has dropped me, without any reason of which I know. I would like to regain his friendship. Kindly advise me what to do."

Which leads me to inquire, "Where, oh, where is the pride of my sex?" How many girls will insist upon humiliating themselves to men who have signified that they are tired of them! True love is too rare a treasure to be held by those who are not fit. Forget him who has so easily forgotten you. He has declared his own status by his actions.

"Sorrowful." "Which leads me to inquire, 'Where, oh, where is the pride of my sex?' How many girls will insist upon humiliating themselves to men who have signified that they are tired of them! True love is too rare a treasure to be held by those who are not fit. Forget him who has so easily forgotten you. He has declared his own status by his actions."

$15,000,000 LOAN BY U. S. TO FARMERS OF THREE STATES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—[Special.]—The War Finance corporation announced today further details regarding the loan of $15,000,000, which the corporation has agreed to make available to an association of grain dealers in Minnesota and South and North Dakota.

The association is the Equity Cooperative Exchange, with gross assets of approximately $4,000,000, which markets on a cooperative basis grain produced by its members.

The exchange is to be secured by registered terminal warehouse receipts representing the grain to be marketed, and will be in an amount up to 60 per cent of the value of the grain. The margin until the loan is repaid. The funds advanced by the War Finance corporation will be used by the ex-

The New

New York, Sept. 10.—The market here has reached a point where every successive wave of speculation produces some new consideration. The fact that the financial position of the country is improving is expressed through the improvement in the financial situation of the government itself," between the two sides of the ledger. Something of reason is seen in the general trend of the market, which has brought into the rate brought into the market each week of late.

Three weeks ago, it was said that the rate of interest was going up, and the rate of interest was going down. Three weeks ago the increase in production and the increase in demand were the main mark; a week ago the increase in consumption and exportation was the main mark; a week ago the decline in production and the decline in demand were the main mark; a week ago the unusual for an autumn season was the main mark; whole, these developments have been consistent with one another.

R. M., however, quite different facts. Europe, heavy United States on trade account, has no power South America was on a large scale in 1919, when trade was at the height of United States actual merchandise account, but now financially and trade.

Yet the signs have prolonged gold imports the United States has gold supply to the world. At the very moment reserve system's gold passed far beyond when the New York has crossed the bill against barely $500, loans of the twelve less by $1,262,000, cent, than last Sept. culation, against which kept, is down $78 ago.

Situation Baffling
This is a state of affairs that baffled the judgment of practical financiers, and it is that the recent rise in favor of the bullion with silver fluctuations at high points of the market the first time in half a century. New York for half a gold offered for sale funds at London, and it is possible that the oriental situation—an economic flash—speak—but it is also are watching the future of the tide in this denied gold movement. That our super will eventually be the lines of foreign never been any reason longer future. Europe draw on our gold with the reduction of the rancies. That movement a long distance as beyond to be some reversal or movement first.

Lace and Embroidery Make This Neckwear

THESE exquisite Collars of lace combinations lend just that necessary air of finality to the Autumn suit or frock. Some are of imported lace and embroidery that make the most charming Collar and Cuff sets imaginable. Collars, $1.50 to $15; Collar and Cuff sets, $3.75 to $40.

Cap and Apron Talks

THIS week the Girl in the Cap and Apron talks about "Pressure Cooking," and tells how it saves fuel and improves food. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 2 P. M.

Household Utilities, Ninth Floor.

Chinese Art Embroideries

RICHLY embroidered Mandarin coats, skirts, sleeve bands, table covers, mats, wall panels, bed spreads, and pillows have been assembled in an interesting collection in the Fancy Goods Section.

A selling of odd pieces at $3.75, $5, $7.50, $10, and $12.50.

Fifth Floor, South, State.

The Indispensable Separate Skirt

HOMESPUN materials in soft colors with bright colored stripes or plaid designs, rough velours, Poirer twill and prunella cloth, good looking, smooth finished fabrics are used to make many of the smartest Skirts this season. The prunella cloth Skirt sketched is both box and side-plaited and comes in blue and tan and black and white combinations. $18.75.

Another attractive Skirt is of homespun fabric in brown, blue, navy or tan with bright colored plaid designs. $12.75.

The Charm of the Blue Rose Preparations

THIS charm lies in the exquisite fragrance and delightful consistency by which all Blue Rose Preparations are known. They are the products of our own laboratory and as such receive our highest commendation.

Blue Rose Talcum, 35c.
Blue Rose Cream, $1.
Blue Rose Face Powder, $1.
Blue Rose Perfume, oz., $2.50.
Blue Rose Toilet Water, 4 oz., $2.75.

First Floor, North, State.

Women's Suits of Charming Dignity

A NOTE of elegance in these Suits is achieved through their simplicity of line, conservative tailoring, and thoughtful consideration for the detail of their self-trimming. A clever finish to the cuffs, a becoming high tailored collar, and excellent quality of the duvetyne—these are some of the attractive features of the two Suits sketched. In black, navy, and brown, sizes 35 to 44, $125.

Sixth Floor, South, State.

Unexpected Touches in Wraps Reflect French Models

UNIQUENESS of line, an interesting use of fur or trimming—any subtle touch in the creation of the new Fall Wrap gives it individual character.

A Cape of elegant simplicity, of finest duvetyne, has a high, full collar of beaver which closes becomingly. $175.

Interesting in every detail, from the long shawl collar of dark brown fur to the little cape effect in the back and over the arms, is the new Wrap at the right. Even the color is unusual; and also the material, which is an imported homespun. $275.

Women's Wraps, Sixth Floor, North, State.

New Fox Scarfs

Very Special Values as Low as $35

THE youthful becomingness of soft Fox Fur! In our collection of beautiful Fox Scarfs every kind is represented. There are black, taupe, Hudson Bay blue, walnut, pointed and also the fashionable lighter shades—all fresh skins, very carefully selected. Each Scarf represents a most unusual value.

Sixth Floor, North, Wabash.

New Silks

Present Interesting Values

TO meet Fashion's requirements the newest Silks are presented in an unusually large assortment.

Black Duchesse Mousseline, two good values at $2.50 and $2.75 a yd.

Broadie Crepe, in a large assortment of colors, $4.50 a yd.

Satin Canton in black, brown, and navy, $4.50 a yd.

Jersey tubing, used especially for undergarments, $1.75 a yd.

Second Floor, South, State.

Tricotine and Twill at $4.25 a Yd.

AS a matter of preparedness for the cool days promised, more and more attention is being paid to the planning of the warmer frock. As the material is the first consideration, these two values may aid your decision.

Tricotine, 54 ins., soft finish, in blue, brown, and black, $4.25.

Poirer twill, 54 ins., in blue, black, and brown, of smooth, lustrous finish, $4.25.

Second Floor, South, State.

Modish Strap Slippers

For Brisk Autumn Walks

THE two-strap Slippers shown at the right, so smart of line, yet practical, are particularly suitable for street wear with the walking costume.

They are made of a fine grade of black calf, with low, broad heels, medium-weight welt soles, and pinked wing-tips, collars and vamp seams. They are typical Autumn Shoes, distinctive, comfortable, and decidedly in the vogue, the pair, $11.50.

We maintain a Special Section for women who require sizes under 2 or over 8.

Fourth Floor, South, State.

For the Closing Days of the September Sale

Nainsook, 10-Yd. Bolt, $2.25

FRENCH finish Nainsook, a soft fabric of medium weight, is particularly desirable for dainty undergarments and infants' clothing. During the Sale it is exceptionally low priced, hence it would pay to buy for future use at this time and insure substantial savings.

Second Floor, Middle, State.

The Call to Fall Sports

THE season for Fall sports is here—hunting, fishing, riding—and the correct Apparel for all such sports is essentially smart.

A New Habit

—faultlessly tailored, with semi-fitted, belted coat and breeches reinforced nearly to the waist, represents an interesting value; in brown, and gray mixtures, at $47.50.

Hunting Coats

—are irresistibly smart. A leather Coat has four necessary pockets, and knitted cuffs and waist band that fit snugly for warmth, $22.50.

A similar model, in heavy wool jersey, has a high neck, and is lined with suede, $25.

Breeches in wool, corduroy, and khaki, from $6.50 to $25.

Sixth Floor, South, State.
